Commissioner of Education Makes Trip Through Egypt in Airplane.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Nov. 5.—Dr. John H. Finley, State Commissioner of Education of New York, was a passenger on a steamer arriving here to-day from Europe. For several months he has been with Gen. Allenby in Palestine as a Colonel of the Red Cross. His mission to this country is to enlist workers to follow in the wake of Gen. Allenby's victorious armies in Mesopotamia.

"I went in through Egypt to join Gen. Allenby," he said. "I flew in an aeroplane, making the flight in two hours, a journey which took the last children of Israel forty years to make. That is something to set people thinking of the progress of modern science."

Dandruff Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't. It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid or apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and there are four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid or cream at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Adv.

AMERICANS FORCED BACK TO RECRUIT PRIESTS FOR FRONT, PRAISE U. S. TROOPS

Returning Members of U. S. Legation Tell of Bolshevik Terror Reign.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Nov. 5.—The last Americans to leave Petrograd arrived here to-day on a steamer from a European port. They were Norman Armour, Secretary to the American Legation at Petrograd; William C. Huntington, Commercial Attaché, and Felix Willoughby Smith, former American Consul at Tiflis. The party is returning to Washington under orders from the State Department.

"We can't say a great deal," said Mr. Armour, "on account of military restrictions. The outside world hasn't any idea of the terrible reign of the Bolsheviks in Russia. The Car in his maddest moments would never have dared think of the things they are doing every day. We were ordered out of Petrograd on July 25, with the rest of foreign officials and sent to Volodga. We were ordered out of the latter place frequently, but remained because there were ten employees of the National City Bank and a lot of money and valuable papers.

"The Bolsheviks had attacked the British Consulate and killed the Naval Attaché because he wouldn't obey orders. Frequent attacks were made on our party, but we stood them off, hoping for help from Archangel. In the latter part of August they covered our building with machine guns from every vantage point, then in the night swooped down on us and carried our belongings bodily out of the building and put us on a train, which made a wide detour around Petrograd."

"I had a Norwegian passport, and posing as a despatch bearer for the Norwegian Legation, managed to get back into Petrograd. It looked like a deserted city when I walked in there. But the Bolsheviks were close by and their automatic bearing was worse than at any time in the bloodiest history of Russia. This prevailed wherever they were. Words are not strong enough to describe the conditions in Russia, the misery and want and wholesale murders. The people are starving and can get no hearing let alone redress, from the blood-craved Bolsheviks.

"Here's what I saw: A cabman with a horse standing at a corner. Half an hour later I returned and the horse was dead on the street. Still half an hour later the horse was being cut up and carried away by the starving men, women and children."

Asked about troop movements in Russia, Mr. Armour shrugged his shoulders and smiled. He was on his way to Washington with his report on that very matter.

DAY OF RECKONING FOR LANDLORDS 'ON A BUSINESS BASIS'

Inhumanity of the Profiteers Will Be Repaid by an Indignant Public.

To the Editor of The Evening World:

Referring to a letter in The Evening World of the 31st ult. "From the Landlord's View," signed "A. H. A.," I beg to call particular attention to the character of the criticism of this correspondent upon the war legislation enacted by Congress with reference to soldiers' and sailors' dependents.

Like many persons similarly situated, this gentleman is unacquainted with the subject, or else fails to appreciate its significance. He states that "landlords are not profiteering at all, they are only trying to run their property on a business basis."

The letter further stated that your correspondent has read several of the articles in The Evening World on the subject, particularly the article which appeared on the 23d of Oct. last.

He refrains from comment on this particular case, but is contented with a general defense of landlords, and characterizations of tenants in general. He proceeds further to dilute at length in an aggrieved tone about the manner in which "landlords have been oppressed and tormented in every way by tenants clamoring for wasteful repairs and dodging payment of rent," and indulges in a fling at the beneficial legislation which has been enacted in recent years, and accepted by the public generally through the efforts of men who have at heart the welfare of the people generally, to make greedy profiteers conform to the plain principles of justice and humanity.

The statement concludes with the following: "The interests of landlords and tenants are united, and if you oppress one it will react on the other." He makes a final suggestion for relief to the effect: "Stop hounding landlords for what they cannot help."

On the question of sacrifices his suggestion is that it should be made by the community as a whole, evidently preferring a Socialist method rather than have it left to the individual. He says "the loss ought to be borne by the community."

The element of personal sacrifice, he evidently thinks, should not attach to the landlords as a body, but should be visited on the soldiers and sailors' dependents who are making the supreme sacrifice for the entire country.

All that Congress has done has been to make provision for the boy at the front to have his day in court, which was made necessary as a war measure.

The content of this correspondent for tenants appears in the following language: "Tenants are utterly irresponsible. Not one in a hundred is worth a lawsuit."

What do tenants think of this statement?

It is a notorious fact that the law, particularly of this State, is in favor of the landlord and that the decisions of the courts, following a long line of precedent, are distinctly adverse to tenants. Adverting to the question of repairs, for example, the law is settled that the landlord is under no obligation to make repairs for a tenant unless it specifically is stated in writing. An oral agreement will not suffice, and is not recognized.

Notice the proposition upon which landlords rent property, as voiced by their avowed spokesman: "Landlords are only trying to run their property on a business basis."

This is a frank acknowledgment and it will receive the answer of well merited rebuke from those who are trying to usher in a more humane and kindly consideration for those who are suffering.

Save your hair! Double its beauty in a few moments. Try this!

Hair stops coming out and every particle of dandruff disappears.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes, but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance, an incomparable luster, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.—Adv.

who, by stress of untoward circumstances, are unable to help themselves. There is a day of reckoning for those who treat human beings merely from a business standpoint and have no conception of that higher law which demands justice and fair play to all.

The Evening World has pointed out instances of inhuman treatment by selfish profiteers, for which your correspondent has not a word of approval or otherwise, or for those who are trying to protect the helpless.

The instance of the soldier boys passing on the sidewalk in an upper part of our city, who found a woman on the walk with her furniture thrown hither and thither, finds no response from your correspondent except that it is a "business proposition." Nor comment for those brave soldier boys who, learning that the woman had a boy in France fighting for his country, replaced the poor woman's furniture in her little home and then stood valiantly at the entrance, defying anybody who dared to interfere with her effort to protect her little home from invasion.

Natural justice, as in this case, has many times asserted itself and will again find champions ready to take up the cause of all those struggling to preserve human life against greed and oppression from any source whatever.

SUNDAY WORLD WANTS WORK WONDERS.

Why will this black man have good teeth all his life, while this white lady has had bad teeth since childhood?

Nature knows how to preserve teeth

TOOTH DECAY is almost unknown among savage races. 90% of civilized people have had teeth. Civilization has brought about conditions of living and eating which partially nullify Nature's provisions for protecting teeth.

Because of a mistaken theory, based upon a lack of knowledge of the cause and natural prevention of tooth decay, most modern dentifrices have actually increased the destruction of teeth.

One of the world's greatest dental scientists, H. P. Pickering, M.D., Ch.B., M.D.S., (Birmingham), L.D.S. (England), after years of research and study of savage and civilized races in all parts of the globe, has discovered and proved certain basic principles which point the way for successfully preserving teeth in Nature's way.

Among the principal causes of tooth decay are the acids formed by the fermentation of food particles which find lodgment in crevices, cavities and under the gums.

These acids attack the lime salts of the enamel, weakening the enamel which is destroyed by the force of mastication.

Dr. Pickering proves that Nature has provided a natural agent for rendering harmless these acids of food decay. This natural tooth preservative is saliva. A copious flow of saliva neutralizes acid in the mouth.

The old-fashioned dentifrice theory was that an alkaline dentifrice was necessary to neutralize acids.

Dr. Pickering has exploded this theory, first by proving that an alkaline dentifrice can only neutralize acid at the moment of application and is therefore worthless as a protection against acids, which form constantly during 24 hours of the day; and second, by proving that an alkaline dentifrice is actually dangerous and harmful, because it paralyzes the salivary glands and checks the flow of saliva, thus interfering with Nature's method of preserving the teeth.

Mennen's Cream Dentifrice is based upon Dr. Pickering's discoveries and scientific principles.

It is non-alkaline and therefore does not check the flow of saliva.

It cleans, whitens and polishes the teeth without scouring or grinding the enamel.

It breaks down tartar formations and mucin plaques.

By means of a mild fruit acid ingredient, it stimulates the salivary glands and increases the secretion, flow and alkalinity of saliva, thus aiding Nature to preserve your teeth by a natural process.

It has a 20% content of alcohol which serves as an antiseptic mouth wash and a conditioner of the gums. Aromatic oils make Mennen's pleasant, cool and refreshing to use, with an agreeable after-taste.

Try one tube. You will like it. Your teeth will be whiter than ever before. You will be aiding Nature to preserve your teeth—naturally.

Mennen's Cream Dentifrice costs 35 cents, or 10 cents more than many alkaline dentifrices. Forged steel costs more than cast iron.
